

Peter Roberts is Professor of Education at the University of Canterbury in New Zealand. His teaching and research interests are in philosophy of education and educational policy studies. His books include Philosophy, Death and Education (with R. Scott Webster and John Quay, 2023), Performativity, Politics and Education: From Policy to Philosophy (2022), Education and the Limits of Reason: Reading Dostoevsky, Tolstoy and Nabokov (with Herner Saeverot, 2018), Happiness, Hope, and Despair: Rethinking the Role of Education (2016), Better Worlds: Education, Art, and Utopia (with John Freeman-Moir, 2013), The Virtues of Openness: Education, Science, and Scholarship in the Digital Age (with Michael Peters, 2011), Paulo Freire in the 21st Century: Education, Dialogue, and Transformation (2010), Neoliberalism, Higher Education and Research (with Michael Peters, 2008), and Education, Literacy, and Humanization: Exploring the Work of Paulo Freire (2000), among others. Professor Roberts is a Fellow and former President of the Philosophy of Education Society of Australasia. In 2010 and 2016 he was a Canterbury Fellow at the University of Oxford, and in 2012 he was a Rutherford Visiting Scholar at Trinity College, Cambridge.